Lecture: “Beyond Dry Facts: Telling Your Ancestor’s Stories”

Laura Hedgecock

Genealogical storytelling requires a transition from researcher to writer. Learn down-to-earth strategies to help you write compelling, relatable stories about your ancestors.

Our Speaker

Laura Hedgecock is an author, storyteller, speaker, and GeneaBlogge. She is passionate about helping others tell their personal, family, and ancestor stories. Laura is a member of the Association of Professional Genealogists; serves as secretary of the Genealogical Speakers Guild and Detroit Working Writers; and is president of the 3400+ member GeneaBloggers Organization.

Class: “Land Patents Records and the Bureau of Land Management Website” 3:15

Annette Baker, member of GSWC

Learn how to use the General Land Office Records on the Bureau of Land Management website and land tract book records at FamilySearch.com to find your ancestors who obtained public land from the United States government.
