“Researching our Pennsylvania Ancestors”

Jenny Warner

Learn how to effectively research your Pennsylvania ancestors using various online resources, books, and records.

Our Speaker: Jenny Warner has been "doing genealogy" for 42 years and loves sharing her knowledge and helping others to learn about their heritage. Jenny participates in many lineage societies and genealogical societies as a member and an office holder and speaks on a variety of topics.

“There are No Dumb Questions in Genealogical Research”

GSWC Facilitators

Whether you're just starting your family history journey or have been at it for years, why not bring your “brick wall” questions to this gathering? Our Research Committee may have the answers, or at least some next steps to get you to your goal. We also have quite a few seasoned historians and genealogical researchers among our members that can help. Here's your chance to ask questions of our panel of resident experts in genealogical research and learn from each other.
