“5 Types of German Genealogy Documents & What You Can Find in Each” by Katherine Schober

What kind of documents are available for your German ancestors? What should you be looking for in your research? And most importantly, where can you find these documents?

Our Speaker: Katherine Schober of Germanology Unlocked is a German-English genealogy speaker, author, and translator, specializing in the old German handwriting. She is the author of “The Magic of German Church Records” and “Tips and Tricks of Deciphering German Handwriting”, as well as the creator of the online courses “Reading the Old German Handwriting” and “German for Genealogists”.

“Writing Your Family History Book” by Barbara Laughlin Adler

Approximately 3:15

“I’ve done so much research on my family. Now what do I do with it?” This class will guide you through key decisions you’ll need to make in planning your own family history book.

Our Speaker: Barbara has researched her family history for the past 25 years, and holds membership in several genealogical societies. She self-published a book about her father’s ancestry, “Puritans, Presbyterians and Pioneers” as well as short articles for Almont Historical Society’s Lamplighter, and NGS Quarterly.
